Tim Humphrey heads up Spalding commercial department

Tim Humphrey BSc MSc MRICS has been appointed head of the commercial department at the Spalding office of property and business consultants Brown & Co.

Originally from Northamptonshire, Tim went to school in Suffolk before graduating from the University of Reading in Rural Resource Management. He went on to gain an MSc in Rural Estate Management at the Royal Agricultural College, in Cirencester, before moving to Lincolnshire to join Brown & Co as a Graduate Surveyor in 2001.

Tim moved to the firm's Grantham office in 2002 and gained membership of the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors a year later.

Having gained broad experience and knowledge of commercial agency in Lincolnshire and Nottinghamshire, Tim has been appointed as Senior Associate and promoted to lead Brown & Co's multidisciplinary Spalding commercial team. In this role he will continue to undertake agency sales, purchases and lettings of the full range of commercial properties as well as Valuation, planning and development work.

Brown & Co established a commercial property department in Spalding in 1990, the office is now on the High Street. Together with established teams in its other offices throughout the East Midlands and East Anglia — including locally in Grantham and King's Lynn — the department has become a leading force in commercial property in Lincolnshire, Nottinghamshire, Cambridgeshire, Norfolk and Suffolk.

Tim is a member of the East Midlands RICS Matrics Committee. Currently living near Sleaford, he plans to move to the Spalding/Boston area. A keen sportsman, Tim (29) is captain of the Boston Hockey Club Men's 1st Team. He also enjoys skiing, squash, tennis and countryside activities, including shooting and fishing.
